STOCKLIST

FICTION • DICTIONARIES • STUDY GUIDES • HOME LEARNING • CLASSICS • PICTURE BOOKS

Oxford Children's has been publishing children's books for over 100 years. We aim to publish books that enrich children's lives and inspire a lifelong love of reading.

Inside this catalogue, you will find a wealth of wonderful books for children and teens, from beautiful picture books to award-winning literary fiction and 20th century classics to cutting-edge emerging talents.

Our close link with schools and the teaching of reading means that we are also uniquely placed to produce some of the UK's leading literacy resources. Our support materials enable parents to support their children at home from learning to read in primary school through to subject specific study at secondary school.

Designed by educational experts to help parents support their child's development as a reader and to complement what their child is learning at school.

Starring much-loved characters Biff, Chip and Kipper from the Oxford Reading Tree, this series has been developed to introduce children to fundamental early reading skills and to encourage a love of stories.

PHONICS enable children to practise their letters and sounds in just the same way as they do at school.

FIRST STORIES are motivating stories which introduce new readers to common words and everyday language.

HOME LEARNING  indicates that an eBook edition is available.
