Peer models

- Evolve features short podcasts of real student 'peer models' talking about topics in the Student's Book.
- These videos provide achievable speaking role models to prompt speaking in class and are easily accessed by scanning a QR code.

Smartphone activities

- 'Find it' smartphone activities allow students to bring live content into the class and personalise the learning experience with research and group activities that are engaging and meaningful.

cambridge.org/evolve

You spoke. We listened.

Students told us that they most enjoy material which is relevant to their lives and thought-provoking. Teachers told us that they wanted material which motivates and enthuses their students. Therefore, Evolve prioritises cognitively-engaging activities over mechanical practice and includes critical thinking in every skills lesson.

Dedicated speaking lesson

- Based around immersive tasks that involve information sharing, problem-solving, and decision making. 'Time to Speak' is a lesson dedicated entirely to developing speaking skills.
- 'Time to Speak' creates a buzz in the classroom where speaking can really thrive, evolve, and take-off, resulting in more confident speakers of English.
- Research shows that students learn better in contexts where they feel confident, motivated, supported, and able to experiment with language. Evolve provides a safe speaking environment in which students have space to develop their speaking skills freely.

Designed for success

- 'Accuracy check' targets common learner errors. It can be used as a self-editing checklist and helps students learn to actively avoid common errors in their written and spoken English.
- 'Insider English' focuses on the informal language and colloquial expressions frequently found in everyday situations, boosting students' confidence in the real world.
- 'Pronunciation' highlights the aspects of pronunciation that most affect communication, maximizing the time students spend on pronunciation in class.
- 'Register check' helps students to transition confidently between written and spoken English and recognize different levels of formality, as well as when to use them appropriately.

Teacher Development

- Evolve integrates professional development into every unit of the Teacher's Edition. This unique approach offers regular opportunities to reflect and try out new teaching techniques, enabling teachers to develop as they teach.

 Making a difference

LESSON OBJECTIVE

discuss improvements to your town

A DISCUSS Look at the pictures. What problems are the different people facing? What kind of problems might these groups face where you live? Think of access to buildings, facilities in public spaces, etc.

B Work in pairs or small groups. Look at the groups of people or think of another group with common interests and issues. Discuss the things they might want to do (use public transportation, access public spaces, go shopping, etc.) and think of three problems they might face in your neighborhood.

- families with young children
- wheelchair users
- dog owners

C Choose a group to focus on. Discuss possible solutions to the three problems you identified. What laws or rules could be introduced to help them? What facilities could be offered? What other solutions might there be?

D PRESENT Present to the class both the problems you identified for the group of people you selected and your solutions to those problems.

E AGREE Vote on the most ambitious, the most practical, and the most imaginative solutions.

Touchstone, together with Viewpoint is an English program based on research from the Cambridge English Corpus. It presents natural language in authentic contexts.

- Corpus research ensures that the language taught is the language people really use.
- Conversation strategies enable students to interact with fluency and confidence.
- An inductive learning approach encourages students to work out grammatical structures and English usage for themselves.

Viewpoint follows on from Touchstone for higher-level learners:

- Specially designed writing syllabus focuses on the key processes and skills essential for academic and professional writing.
- Vocabulary syllabus helps students master essential words and collocations, and includes effective vocabulary learning strategies.

Choose the ideal blended course for you and your students

With fully-flexible blended learning you can choose the best way to deliver the course to your students: in class, online, or a blend of the two. The Online Course can be used in combination with the Student's Book so any part of the course can be done in class or online. Or it can be used as a standalone 100% print or online course.

Touchstone and Viewpoint Online Course

The rich and immersive online environment provides complete instruction and practice. It is carefully scaffolded to develop language ability in gradual steps.

- Language is presented in short videos, so students can work at their own pace.
- 'Figure it out' tasks encourage students to work out how language is formed and used before it is presented.
- Blogs and forums provide freer practice, build student confidence, and improve fluency.
- Teachers can identify areas of strength and weakness at a class and individual level, leading to more effective class planning.

The Viewpoint Online Course has extra features for higher-level learners including:

- Writing tasks to help students build their academic and professional writing skills.
- Study tips and strategies to boost study skills.

Engaging online games have clear learning outcomes and provide variety

Video activities based on authentic Bloomberg news clips are ideal for the higher levels

Touchstone and Viewpoint Online Workbooks

Accessed through the Cambridge Learning Management System, the Online Workbooks allow teachers to track students' progress and save valuable time with automated marking. Students can do further practice to consolidate what they have learned in the classroom.
