Weather and Seasons

Earth goes around the sun. For some of the year, one half of Earth is nearer the sun, so it has warmer weather called summer. At the same time, the other half is away from the sun, so it has colder weather called winter. This is how the seasons work.

Neither and Landscape

The weather of a place can change depending on the landscape. If you climb a mountain, the air gets about 6 degrees centigrade (°C) colder every 1,000 meters that you climb. So there can be snow at the top of a mountain near the equator!

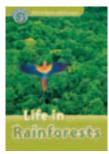

Land gets warm faster than the ocean, so in summer, inland places are warmer than places near the ocean. Inland places cool down faster, too, so they are colder in winter.
